
Cultural Daily

Independent Voices, New Perspectives

Exploring DTLA

Alexis Rhone Fancher · Wednesday, February 3rd, 2016

One great thing about living downtown is its diversity. I love exploring new neighborhoods, photographing everything that catches my eye, and sampling the food of many cultures. I prefer Japanese cuisine above all others, and can be seen frequenting the sushi bars and noodle shops of Little Tokyo as often as my budget allows. I shot these photos in Little Tokyo – July thru October, 2015

Waiting for the noodle shop to open

Woman on 2d street

Shopping in Little Tokyo

If I had a hammer

Mischievous boy poses with family for a selfie

Waiting for the light to change

Night rider

Reflections in shop window

This entry was posted on Wednesday, February 3rd, 2016 at 1:47 pm and is filed under Photography, Poetry, Lifestyle

You can follow any responses to this entry through the Comments \(RSS\) feed. You can leave a response, or trackback from your own site.