In Praise of Peduncle Elongation

Ann Haskins · Friday, March 25th, 2022

Like a nascent cherry blossom, live performance is signaling it is back. Celebrated Germans end with passion downtown, the top west coast dance film fest opens in Echo Park, the folkloric troupe that started it all is in East LA and Costa Mesa, modern dance al fresco in Sunland, art-inspired dance films in Brentwood, step dance and spoken word downtown, plus a peek at next week and more SoCal dance.

Live This Week

Bidding Bach bye-bye

Germany's master storyteller John Neumeier and his celebrated Hamburg Ballet conclude their three-week visit with two performances of J.S. Bach's St. Matthew Passion with LA Opera's music director James Conlon conducting the singers and orchestra. At the Music Center Dorothy Chandler Pavilion, 135 N. Grand Ave., downtown; Sat., March 26, 7:30pm, Sun., March 27, 2pm, $23-$292. LA Opera.

She started it

Seventy years ago, Amalia Hernández founded a dance company that introduced the world to Mexico's rich and varied folkloric dance traditions. She also ignited similarly named folkloric companies throughout the U.S. In time, the company's name became Ballet Folklórico de México de Amalia Hernández to acknowledge the founder and to distinguish it from the many other ensembles following in its footsteps. The company returns with its signature blend of dances from Mexico's many regions and some time traveling from a pre-Columbian era to more modern adaptations. At the Luckman Fine Arts, Cal State LA, 5151 State University Dr., East LA, Fri.-Sat., March 25-26, 8pm, Sun., March 27, 5pm, $35-$55. Ticketmaster Also at Segerstrom Center for the Arts, 600 Town Center Dr., Costa Mesa; Wed., March 30, 8pm, $49-$89. SCFTA.

Museum dancing

As part of its exhibition Poussin and the Dance, the Getty Center commissioned LA choreographers to create dance films that respond to Poussin's art. While the exhibition extends until May 8 with the dance films viewable online, this special component of Poussin Projected: Screening Contemporary Dance Films offers a live screening of three films from choreographers Chris Emile, Ana Maria Alvarez, and Micaela Taylor. The event includes time to view the exhibit, a reception, and Q&A with Emile and Alvarez. The Getty Center, Harold M Williams Auditorium, 1200 Getty Center Dr., Brentwood; Sat., March 26, 3pm, free with ticket The Getty events. Dance films viewable at The Getty Center.

On the green of a Greene & Greene

The nomadic dance series Home/LA is known for siting performers in residences and historic sites to share their artistic perceptions with small audiences, something Covid put on hiatus. The locale for this reopening event is a church that includes a Greene & Greene designed home. For Time Being, dance artists, Rashaun Mitchell + Silas Riener collaborated with interdisciplinary artist, Julie Tolentino for this outdoor event. At the Neighborhood Unitarian Universalist Church, 301 N. Orange Grove Blvd., Pasadena; Sat.-Sun., March 26-27, 5pm, $35. Eventbrite.
