

Cultural Daily

Independent Voices, New Perspectives

Pry H.P. Lovecraft's 'Dagon' from the Black Abyss

Cultural Weekly · Wednesday, January 16th, 2013

Among the risk factors noted as they embark on animating the H.P. Lovecraft seminal horror tale Dagon, the filmmakers indicate that it “will be at its squamous best because it’s by fans for fans.” Go squamous or go home, we say!

Director Alastair McColl (Bird World) and editor Simon Modery (Four Horsemen) plan to produce a hand-drawn, full-color animated adaptation of the story, which will be loyal to the expectations of Lovecraft’s fan community, and explore the contemporary resonance of the work. they have launched a Kickstarter campaign to raise £25,000 by February 4, 2013.

Watch their video introduction below, and see if you can resist their fan-geek charms. When they’ve won you over, go to their Kickstarter page and help them see the unseeable.

This entry was posted on Wednesday, January 16th, 2013 at 4:52 pm and is filed under Film. You can follow any responses to this entry through the Comments \(RSS\) feed. You can leave a response, or trackback from your own site.