

Cultural Daily

Independent Voices, New Perspectives

Simpler Times

Rob Lang · Wednesday, January 11th, 2017

With all the bewildering stuff going on in the world these days, it might be nice to look back on days gone by, before we were completely dependent on things like technology.

Who or what is in charge here?

[alert type=alert-white]Please consider making a tax-deductible donation now so we can keep publishing strong creative voices.[/alert]

Let's think about a time when we humans were still figuring things out in the world:

Perhaps the baculite, in the face of extinction, tried to cram its way into folk memory. As you can see, it went wrong. Fortunately, eons later, this amazing cephalopod showed up in the fossil record.

Do you think after he was rescued and told his story, he used the hashtag #MerMay ?

Even though life seemed so different before November 8, 2016, some things never have and never will change, like family dynamics.

The family struggle has endured throughout the ages.

This entry was posted on Wednesday, January 11th, 2017 at 6:38 pm and is filed under Comics. You can follow any responses to this entry through the Comments \(RSS\) feed. You can skip to the end and leave a response. Pinging is currently not allowed.