The Weather: January 2012

Melora Walters · Friday, August 6th, 2021

In 2012, actress, poet, filmmaker, artist Melora Walters recorded the weather each day in her own unique way. The entries will be published once a week, covering one month each time.

1.1.12

3:30 am

Huge stag at the side of the road,
the curve up from the bridge.
There was another deer at his side.

Cold then, but now warm.
The heat is not turned on in the house.
Outside in the sun, it feels good.

1.2.12

NUMINOUS

It's hot again today.

There is a wind.
It is Isis breathing magic
into the dead bodies.
Old sticks.

The arsonist strikes at 2 am,
takes a break,
and back at 4 or 3 am.

I HAVE REACHED THE CROSSROADS
OF THE DEER'S HEAD

1.3.12

Birds filled certain trees,
hundreds of them,
so that they seemed alive,
the trees.

The birds were small leaves, that flew.

Three giant birds circled overhead
Turkey Vultures-
No-
Golden eagles.

Not as hot as yesterday.

1.4.12

hot.

windy last night.

1.5.12

strange wind.
and heat.
but cold enough to need a sweater

1.6.12

The air is cold.
The soil is wet
as though it had been watered last night.

There is a wavering between despair and potential.

1.7.12

The mist came in last night.
 The mountains are barely visible.
 The soil is wet and outside in the pines
 there is a spotted sound-water that drips
 and yet there is no rain.
 As though something is happening in the pines and the birds sing overlapping to create a tightly woven blanket.
 The blanket still on the clothesline,
 wet from mist

2 crows called as it got light because for the first time yesterday
 I cleaned the entire home, dawn to night on my knees. I experience it as a different place than before-

I can feel Holland.
 the green is the Jardin des Tuileries and Belgium which is dune and pine mist. dark. overgrown cemetery
 where I first saw the saints and relics and photos in glass boxes
 where Weverbergh wrote Gilgamesh and Inanna emerged from my Arabian birth, combined with French Film, modern art. and my favorite museum-The Kröller Müller-this. is. it. I love it. This is what I wanted.

*

1.8.12

Cold last night.
 Cold this morning.
 Very few birds.

A frog is somewhere near.

1.9.12

Warmer today.

There is a coyote
 that walks through the street

during the day,
and sits in one spot on the hill,
it responds to “coyote” and whistling.

The moon is full tonight.

1.10.12

It's cold.

An invoice for December 24 for 1 latte grn whole milk
at the Los Angeles Airport.
Paid with cash.

-moved a rosebush
it was getting stepped on pushed against.

planted Bird of Paradise
from a cutting the neighbor gave me 4 months ago.
There are new roots but the leaves are so splayed
I don't know if it will make it.

Three coyote on the side of the road.
No. Fear.

1.11.12

The water runs clear
through the sieve
of the sand.

It's cold.
The sun came through as gray, as though peering into bones
like an mri machine.
No where to hide.

Someone down the street is trimming their pine tree.
Branches of green softness are piling up on the ground below like hair fluffs of green hair

green clouds.

I want to jump on them.

1.12.12

6:18 am still dark.

cold.

windy.

The moon was not out this morning.

It was still dark, as the night was on the other side of the hill-

a different night-

a mirror of the night.

1.13.12

The wind is soft.

waves. like waves.

calm ones on the ocean.

Last night there was a snake
in the bathroom, long and black thin with many coils.

It was stunned.

The cats watched from the counter
as we got it back outside.

It wasn't there this morning.

1.14.12

The air is moving.

It's quiet.

8:49 am

The owl is calling and another calls back.

1.15.12

The light is filtered.
No sound.

-which creates a terrible heaviness.

1.16.12

Bleak.

1.17.12

Everything is quiet.

The light is intense-
but it's cold.

Trees with white flowers-
a scent is not a scent-
more a smell or sensation
like a powder
flour thickening in the air.

1.18.12

The sun is reflected from one window in a house on a hill.

Cold today.

1.19.12

Cold.

Suet-
that's what the white blossom trees smell like.

1.20.12

Cold.

Helicopters everywhere.

1.21.12

Rain.

I am happy.

1.22.12

The rain is gone.

dark clouds.

but then

only the sun.

1.23.12

From 6:30 am to 7 am

it goes from dark to sunlight.

Rain.

Relief.

Chinese New Year

Water Dragon.

Kung Hei Fat Choi-

May prosperity be with you.

The flag on top of a house is frayed. One stripe flies on it's own in the wind.

The glass bulb on top of the old street light is tipped over.

1.24.12

Windy.

Cold.

The heater is blasting the house whistles
between the heat.

The earth is still dark
from the rain.

1.25.12

The seed has to die
for the flower to be born.

Who said that?

1.26.12

warmer today

The air smells wet.

The trees with small white flowers
are dropping the petals,
some have blown into the back yard,
small solidified raindrops of milk-
white splats from a paintbrushsmall pieces of paper illegible microscopic fortunes
from fortune cookies-miniature white butterflies.

1.27.12

A small broken leaf
that looked like a brown moth's wing with a striation of dark brown.

Votive Candle burns,
the smell of Church.

1.28.12

A flock of birds flew in one direction turned and flew in the other.

1.29.12

Very Sunny.

Wind in the hills,
 but not below.

The thought that just as a civilization evolves from a barbaric history-
 a human can evolve in that way, too.
 it allows for understanding.
 forgiveness.
 growth.

1.30.12

cold this morning

1.31.12

On the other side of the fence
 where all the trees surround the lake, for a moment there was a figure who looked cloaked with head bowed and hands, palm out in the dark miraculous mother a saint
 but it was only a dead tree
 human height trunk.
